"Mod" is a teenager striving to attain a sophisticated, aloof personality and affecting an ultramodern version of Edwardian dress and manner. "Mod" is the New Art, a combination of new art forms and traditions, the one superceding and replacing the other, the "In" as it replaces the "Out." "Mod" is long hair and Ben Franklin glasses. It is the application of past dress and mannerisms to the pace of today's society, the language of the young generation.

This sudden emphasis on "Mod" that emerges into the commonplace things of our everyday lives should not be regarded as a mere fad and nothing more. It is not just a manner of dress or an advertising campaign, a thing of the moment to be enjoyed and then forgotten in the wake of a new amusement, but rather a fresh interest in the past and how it can best be used to serve and enhance the present. To understand the importance of "Mod," one must understand how the style we call "Mod" came to be. For more than a century, from the mid-eighteenth to the late nineteenth, architecture had been dominated by a succession of "revival styles." However, the architectural wisdom of the past proved, in the long run, to be inadequate for the needs of the present. The authority of historic modes had to be broken if the industrial era was to produce a truly contemporary style. During the beginning of the early nineteenth century in Europe, the authority of the "revival styles" was being challenged by a movement called "Art Nouveau." It was primarily a new style of decoration based on linear patterns of sensuous curves that often suggested water lilies. During the 1890's and early 1900's, its persausive influence on the applied arts could be seen in wrought-iron work, furniture, jewelry, glass, typography and even women's fashions. It had a profound effect on public taste.

We, in the twentieth century, have adopted "Art Nouveau" and made it a contemporary style, a thing of today. We find it present in men's and women's fashions, in the graphic arts, in advertising, and in art. But perhaps, someday, we too will find the wisdom of the past inadequate for the needs of the present, and "Mod" will no longer be "Mod." We will have to think, create, and give birth to our own contemporary style, independent of the past. And, perhaps in doing so, we will leave our distinctive mark upon this era, for coming centuries to build upon.

FROM THE PRINCIPAL

Spring 1968

Dear Graduates,

If anyone told me, a few years ago, that I should look almost benignly at the strange dress of students—male and female—I would have expressed some strong doubts. Of course, departures from normal dress and hair style mark only a few students at L.I.C. Further reflection also suggests that in the vast society of New York, we can afford the luxury of allowing a few among us to indulge their whimsical spirit or, possibly, express a brand of "rebellion."

I have been moved to these remarks by the "mod" note struck in this yearbook. As a reader and occasional writer of history, the long hair and Ben Franklin glasses I see on some students bring me back to the 18th century. I am consoled, therefore, by the thought that I am witnessing a revival.

There is nothing wrong with a return to the past, except that the people who insist on living in another age, or carefully contrive to be out of step in this one, must pay a price. It seems to me that life is tough enough without looking around for a windmill to tilt with.

My advice to the Senior Class of '68 is to continue to draw on the common sense you have shown in the time that we have lived together at L.I.C. I have been happy with this Senior Class, and I wish you a sensible adjustment to our complex world.

Sincerely,

Howard L. Hurwitz

ENGLISH AND SPEECH DEPARTMENT

The English Department has as its goal the raising of standards for all students. Toward this end we offer many subjects, ranging from Elementary Reading Laboratory to Advanced Placement. Of course, the mainstay of our program is the work done daily in every English classroom by dedicated and interesting teachers and cooperative, alert students. Because of our master plan, our expert teachers and our amenable, ambitious students, we believe that we are attaining our goal.

Specially qualified students are selected for World History regular and honor class in the 10th year. These students complete the required social studies subject by the end of the first term of the 12th year. There are also special Geography, History and Economics classes for General Students who are enrolled in English remedial classes. In addition, the department offers a course in Leadership for which the department chairman's approval is required. Problems of Democracy, a special elective for Seniors, may be taken during the Spring term.

FOREIGN LANGUAGES DEPARTMENT

MR. IRWIN GLICK
Chairman, Foreign Language Department

Under the guidance and direction of Mr. Glick, the Foreign Language Department offers our student a two, three, four or even five year course in French, Spanish, or Italian. A special one year course in Latin is offered to honor students in 11th and 12th grades. At graduation, many awards are given to the outstanding students of Foreign Language.

Foreign Language instruction is not restricted to the classroom. Assembly programs are given to acquaint the student body at L.I.C. with other lands and people. To capture student interest, trips are often made to the hispanic Museum, Spanish and French movies, plays and restaurants, and also the U.N. Several students have won scholarships to the Centre d'Art Dramatique and other language institutes.

Tutoring help is provided for all A.M. and P.M. students. Several students also act as interpreters.

Special stress is placed on using the newest "audio-lingual" techniques and equipment tape recordings, films, film strips and record players. The approach is conversational and practical.

Plans for the future include a fully equipped language laboratory to provide our pupils with greater opportunity to increase their language competency.

MRS. SELMA SMITH
Librarian

The modern concept of a school library is clearly demonstrated by the diverse activities in the L.I.C. School library. It serves as the center for a substantial book and magazine collection, carefully selected to enrich the curriculum and to meet the recreational needs of the students. Moreover, it has a vast collection of college catalogs and vocational materials to help students formulate plans for their future. Further, it is a study center—a reference center—a tutoring center, where boys and girls help each other. Various school clubs and organizations meet in the library; guest speakers too, make use of its facilities to address students. These varied activities make the library a meaningful and helpful part of the students' academic and social life.

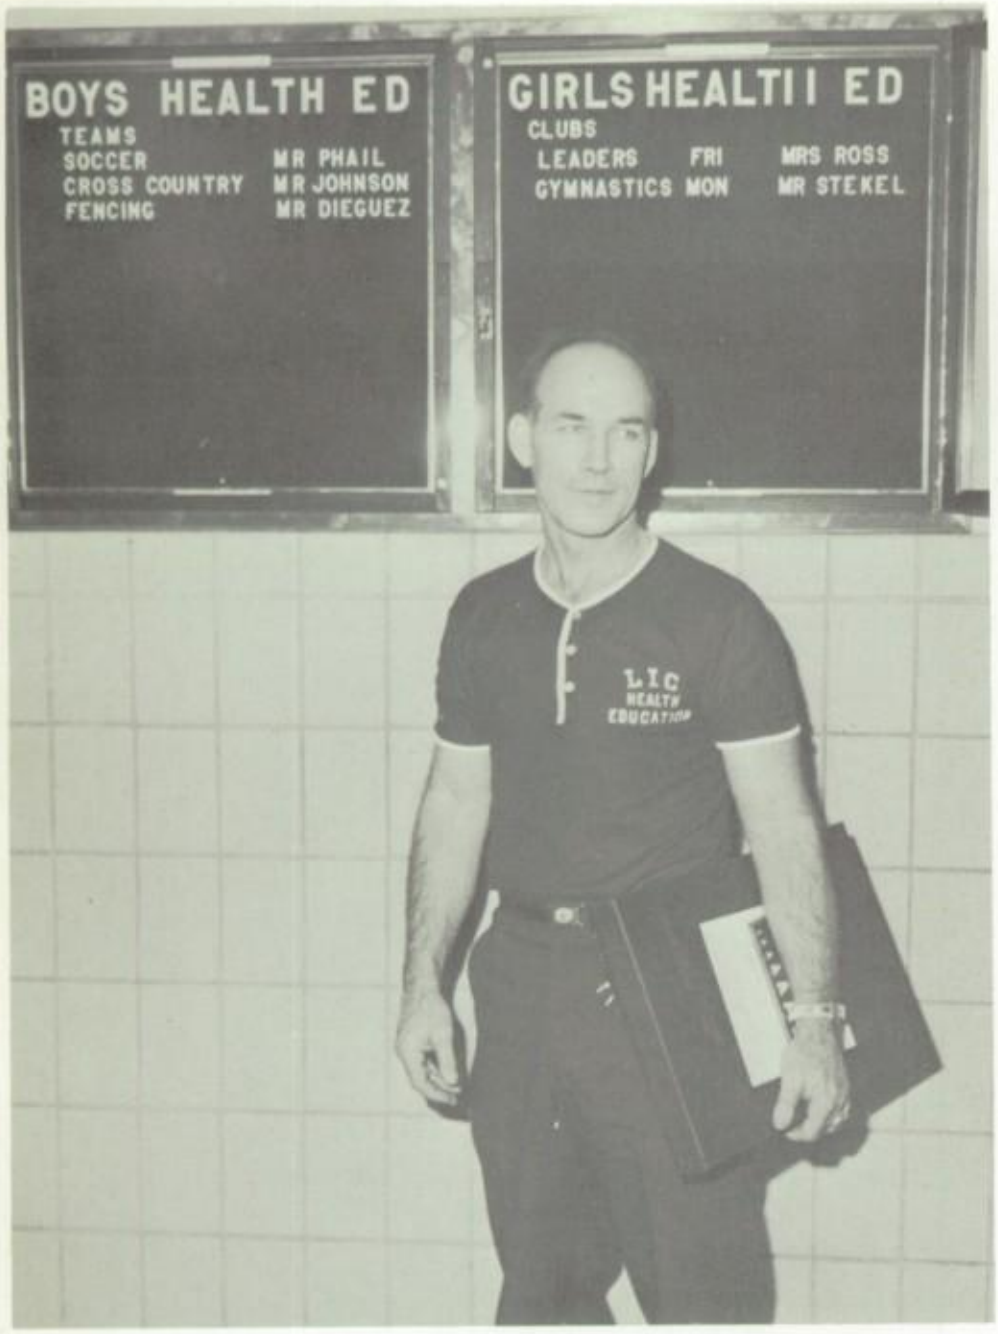
BOYS HEALTH EDUCATION DEPARTMENT



MR. ALLEN PHAIL
Chairman, Boys' Health Education

The program of the Health and Physical Education Department encompasses three major areas — physical activities, health instruction and health services. The physical activity area includes the daily work in teaching, practicing and testing units such as soccer, football, volleyball, softball, handball, folk and modern dance, gymnastics, basketball and physical fitness test batteries. The interscholastic and club intramural program includes twelve varsity teams and eight clubs in which more than four hundred and forty girls and boys participated this year. In addition, special events, such as faculty-seniors and faculty-faculty matches in volleyball, basketball and softball were conducted. The health instruction includes personal hygiene, community hygiene, first aid and safety education.

The Health Services program provides for physical examinations, dental work and individual health problems in cooperation with the Department of Health and other agencies.

To Ekaterini With Love Arista Gives New Hope

By Paul Bernabeo and Roxanne Kane

Arista has adopted a foster child whose family's sole income per month is a mere $18.00.

Ekaterini Valoma is thirteen years old and she lives in a village near Kozani in the northern part of Greece. An older brother and sister are married and live far from home, and their father died of cancer in 1955. The remaining Valomas live on a two and a half acre farm cultivated by the mother. The family grows wheat, tobacco, peaches, and strawberries. The house which the family occupies is a one story building with three rooms, a kitchen and some storage space. It is very sparsely furnished; there are one iron bed, two cots, one table, a few chairs and bed-

In the school Chorus and Vocal Training Class, the greatest emphasis is placed on the teaching of proper voice production. Students are taught how to sing in harmony and how to recognize as well as produce good tone quality.

Both groups participate in all school assembly programs and perform at graduation exercises.

The Long Island City High School Band and Orchestra gives qualified students the opportunity to display their musical ability at assembly programs and graduation. These students practice their instruments each day, working diligently to perfect their talent.

THE SCIENCE PROJECTS CLASS PONDERS A PROBLEM

SEARCH AND RESEARCH

The Science Projects Class is designed for those science-minded students who wish to apply scientific techniques. Each Senior student is required to work on a term project and to record data on it. Reports of findings are published in "Search and Research," the magazine published yearly by the Science Projects Class.

STARS ANNEX 2nd STRAIGHT TITLE

By Paul Hughes and Frank Gerechter

Long Island City's basketball Stars vered themselves to the North eens PSAL championship and the yoff berth that accompanies it. e Stars clinched their second con- utive title while fashioning a 15-1 gue record and an overall season's ord of 18-2.

The once vanquished Stars con- ded their illustrious season with secutive victories over Cleveland, ancis Lewis, Forest Hills, Bryant, yside, and Flushing.

Playoffs Begin and End

A play-off berth and a first round loss has plagued the Stars for the last three years. This year was to be different. LIC finally overcame the playoff jinx by outlasting Far Rockaway, 73-69. Far Rockaway's zone defense baffled the Stars and forced them into numerous errors. Although LIC trailed during most of the contest, they staged a rally, overcame the deficit, and won the game. With the score knotted at 64 all, James Brown completed a vital three point play to give the Stars a commanding lead, and victory.

The Queens Championship was decided on February 27 with Van Buren as LIC's opponent. The game ended as a crushing defeat for the Stars and our cagers were eliminated from the playoffs. Although LIC vaulted into an early lead in the first period, Van Buren stiffened its defense and led at the half, 35-24, never to relinquish its lead. The third period was highlighted by numerous turnovers, committed by both sides. The Stars rallied in the final period and cut the deficit to three points, with less than 5 minutes remaining in the match. In the final moments, with LIC traili 55-51, a pair of vital "one and on foul shots were missed. Van Bur capitalized on LIC's erroneous fo shooting and victory was thei James Brown concluded an outstar ing season with a 17 point outbu against Van Buren.

Skyline applauds Mr. Bank for c ating another championship tea and James Brown, Butch Gord Frank Johnson, Bunny Haywo Thomas Brown, Steve Skrenta, R ert Coffee, and John Bradley for p viding LIC with another league ti

SALVATORE PORCINO

We Salute You!

Congratulations and the best of luck! We at Lincoln are proud of the part we have had in helping to make your classbook a permanent reminder of your school years, recording with photographs one of the happiest and most exciting times of your life! We hope that, just as you have chosen us as your class photographer, you will continue to think of Lincoln Studios when you want photographs to help you remember other momentous days to come! When you choose Lincoln portraits, you are sure of the finest craftsmanship at the most moderate prices!

Dear Graduate:

Graduation is a most important time in any family's life. A time to reflect about the many good things that have happened in the last four years ... and a time to think about the years ahead.

I am certain that you have considered furthering your education, either in college or in the many fine trade or nursing schools which are available. Perhaps you have already made a decision ... we hope it was to continue your education.

Now here's how we can help!

Under a cooperative arrangement with the New York Higher Education Assistance Corporation you may borrow from $1,000. to $1,500. a year with a maximum of $7,500. for attending college ... lesser amounts for trade schools. You make no payments and there are no interest charges while you are in school. Upon termination of studies you can take up to ten years to repay. Loans are made directly to the student ... no co-signers are needed. Dial the telephone numbers listed below for additional information.

May we take this occasion to congratulate you on your graduation and to wish you a successful and rewarding future.

Cordially,

Michael J. Burke
President
